

Biography

Captain Angel Jackson-Gillespie

CPT Jackson is a native of Cochran, Georgia. She enlisted in the Army in 2001 as a Multimedia Illustrator and received a commission through the Officer Candidate School in 2004 as an Air Defense Artillery Officer. She initially served as a Platoon Leader, Company XO and Battalion S1 at Fort Bliss, TX. In 2007, she transferred to the Adjutant General Corps and attended the Captain's Career Course at Fort Jackson, SC. After completing the career course, she served as a Battalion S1 and Company Commander at Fort Polk, LA. CPT Jackson currently serves as the Battalion S1 for 526th Brigade Support Battalion, 2BCT, 101st Airborne Division. In this position, she is responsible for all personnel actions for a 970 Soldier unit with the mission of providing logistical support to an Infantry Brigade Combat Team within the 101st Airborne Division. CPT Jackson recently completed a combat deployment to Afghanistan, where her unit was based at Kandahar City. During the deployment, in addition to her primary duties, she acted as the primary Voting Assistance Officer for her battalion.